The Exchange Announces Fuel Prices for February 11, 2012 to February 17, 2012

MAINZ-KASTEL, Germany – The Army and Air Force Exchange Service is adjusting gasoline prices in Europe effective Saturday, February 11, 2012, based on the current weekly U.S. Department of Energy (DoE) average price plus incremental costs associated with providing gasoline overseas.

For the week of February 6, 2012, the DoE average for all grades slightly increased. As a result, gas prices for the Exchange in Europe will be as follows:

For all grades of fuel for the Netherlands, Turkey and the Azores, prices are set at “floor price.” Floor prices occur when the cost of fuel plus dispensing costs is greater than the DoE average plus incremental dispensing costs.

Incremental dispensing costs are costs which the Exchange incurs to pump fuel overseas. These incremental dispensing costs include personnel costs, the cost to run the fuel card program and any additional expenses; e.g., changes in the exchange rate, wage costs for local nationals (a key component for our overseas dispensing costs formula), etc.
